ALFALFA GROWING IN JASPER COUNTY.

The following statement is going the rounds in the county papers:

Thousands of acres in Jasper County will raise just as good alfalfa as any land, if proper cultural methods are applied.

If well drained land that will raise 35 or 40 bushels of corn per acre is selected and plowed early in fall and then treated with about 2 tons of ground limestone per acre and alfalfa seeded about September 1 at rate of 15 pounds of good inoculated seed per acre, no nurse crop used, success is almost certain.

There are three different fields in Jasper County that yielded at least 5 tons of good alfalfa hay per acre this year in four cuttings. This would bring three times the money that the same land would yield in corn and it would be much better for the land.

J. W. Frazier, cattle feeder of Coles County, Illinois, who has won the Hereford championship five times with an entry in the carload lot classes at the International Live-stock Exposition at Chicago, when asked, what makes you the most money as a farmer? replied "alfalfa." "It was alfalfa which proved so successful and made me so much hay that I was driven to feeding cattle to get rid of it and thus to making money."

"Fifteen years ago I was a tenant farmer, cash renting 200 acres from my father and just barely keeping even, then alfalfa came along. Father and I planted 2 acres of it in 1909. Those 2 acres went 8 tons to the measured acre. Since that year I have had so much alfalfa hay that the only question has been what to do with it. I took to feeding cattle as a means of marketing it. So that is how alfalfa has made me the most money, said Frazier.

It was the late Joe Wing who first gave Frazier the idea that alfalfa would pay him. Frazier's program has been for years a return of $50 for each acre of his farm and his alfalfa has made it possible to reach that high standard.

OSTEOPATHY

Thousands die every year because of selfishness—patent nostrums, for which millions of dollars are fed into the maw of the Drug Trust. Add thousands to the death roll because they prevent nature from displaying danger signals (pain) until too late. Osteopathy allows nature to do her work. Osteopathy will add many years to your life.
